Mastering Content and Skills through INQUIRY (Establishing the purpose of the Unit): What will students learn?

GA DoE Standards

Reading Literary:
- I can cite the textual evidence that most strongly supports an analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text (ELAGSE8RL1)
- I can identify a main idea or theme, examine how the author develops it throughout, focus on the connection between the main idea and the characters, setting, and plot, then summarize the text with objectivity (ELAGSE8RL2)
- I can examine specific events or lines of dialogue to determine how they advance the plot, uncover character details, or force characters to act (make decisions) (ELAGSE8RL3)
- I can figure out what words and phrases mean in context, considering both their figurative and connotative meanings and how the author’s use of specific words, analogies, or textual allusions affects the meaning or tone of the text. (ELAGSE8RL4)

Reading Informational:
- Determine a text’s central idea and analyze its development throughout the text, including its relationship to supporting ideas; provide an objective summary of the text. (ELAGSE8RI2)

Writing:
- I can convey real or imagined experiences and events through narratives that employ appropriate methods, sensory details, and story structures, which all draw the reader in and clarify what is happening. (ELAGSE8W3)

Speaking and Listening
- I can prepare for and participate effectively in conversations and collaborations with diverse partners, building on others’ ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

Complex Characters: in texts, the main characters are interesting and complex, or well-rounded. ## Stories About The Plays
- Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet by Michael Rosen
- Midsummer Night’s Dream by Bruce Colville
- Macbeth by Bruce Colville
- Hamlet by Bruce Colville
- Much Ado About Nothing for kids by Lois Burdett
- The Tempest for kids by Lois Burdett
- Twelfth Night for kids by Lois Burdett

The Plays in Script Form
- Shakespeare on the Double by Mary Ellen Snodgrass

Characters Advance the Plot:
As characters interact with one another and struggle to overcome problems, their choices move the story along. A character’s action- or decision not to take action- can lead to new plot developments and may intensify the conflict, heightening tension or suspense in the story.

Characters Develop Theme:
A character’s struggles with a conflict can teach a general lesson. In this way, characters help develop a story’s theme—the central insight that it conveys. As you read, pay attention to the ways characters change and to the lessons that they learn. These details will point you toward the story’s theme.

Complex Characters:
Discuss with students how main characters in fictional narratives often have conflicting traits and motivations which heighten the tension of a story. Have students discuss and document these examples as they read.

Teachers will build necessary background knowledge.
1. Teachers will continue to model the inquiry process.
2. Teachers will model evaluating and analyzing the anchor text.
3. Students will evaluate and analyze claims and arguments in the text.
4. Students will develop a line of inquiry based on the arguments developed in texts.

Setting:
Suburban Long Island, 1967-68

Context:
The Vietnam War took place from 1955 to April 1975. The United States invaded Vietnam in order to prevent the spread of Communism, as espoused by the northern Communist Regime known as the Viet Cong.

Narrator and Point of View:

Published: August, 2023

Resources, materials, assessments not linked to SGO or unit planner will be reviewed at the local school level.
First person narrator in the form of Holling Hoodhood

Tone and Mood
Humor and candor, sarcastic themes

Foreshadowing
In the first chapter, Holling tells his mother about his fears concerning one of his teachers. The mother is quick to dismiss her son’s fears and tries to change the subject. This instance is used to foreshadow the later scenes when Holling is ignored by his parents, who refuse to believe what he is telling them.

Understatement
Holling thinks with all his might that his teacher, Baker, is trying to kill him or otherwise harm him. This is presented as an extremely serious matter in the beginning, but it is later proven that it is just an understatement because the teacher is not trying to kill him.

Allusions
In the first chapter of the novel, Holling describes his house and focuses his attention on describing a grand piano that his parents bought and put in their living room but which no one is allowed to touch. In fact, as Holling points out, no one in the family even knows how to play the instrument. The piano is used here as an allusion Holling made towards the idea that for his parents, appearances are more important than reality and that they will do everything in their power to protect those appearances.

Imagery
One of the most important images in the novel is that of the Perfect House, or rather the house where Holling lives together with his parents. At the beginning of the novel, the house is portrayed as being in a perfect state and is often compared with the rest of the buildings and even with the sidewalk. As the novel progresses, this image changes as well until the house becomes a ruin. The house mirrors the state of the family, and because of this, it is an extremely important image in the novel.

Parallelism
The main character, Holling, draws a parallel between himself and the character of his favorite book, Treasure Island. Holling would like to be like the protagonist in the book, but he realizes he is nothing like that. Because of this, he is often criticizing himself and wishing he could be braver and more daring. This parallel has the purpose here of characterizing the main character and also showing his development.
Evidence Based Constructed Response - Writing Revolution on Complex Characters in Anchor Text

Students will receive direct instruction in the single paragraph outline. Practice the development of topic and concluding sentences that do the following:
- Provides structures (beginning, middle, and end)
- Enable students to make generalizations and improves adherence to topic
- Promotes analytical and abstract thinking
- Provides focus

Single Paragraph Outline

Topic Sentence
1. (What? When?) add appositive
2. (Why?)
3. (Why?) use subordinating conjunction
4. Vary vocabulary

Concluding Sentence

Collaborative partners turn and discuss ideas

Collaborative conversations

Process scaffolding through mini-lesson on inquiry

Gradual release for student model of understanding key elements of inquiry

Scaffolds appropriate to gifted learners to support successful completion of learning experiences through content, product, process, and learning environment

Body Of Work

Students should connect a part (an extract) to the area of exploration (intertextuality: connecting text). The body of work will continue throughout the year and result in a cumulative writing experience. Encourage students to consider questions that revolve around how a text relates to the archetype (the original model from which something is developed or made?) of the text type it belongs to, how texts refer to one another, and how comparing and contrasting two texts affect meaning.

Exemplars and models

Collaborative Conversations

Provide opportunities for divergent and convergent thinking

Curriculum Unit Approval Statement

Every team member is expected to read and review the unit planner and contents contained in the unit planner.

This unit meets the rigorous review and approval process of Marietta City Schools. All components of the unit have been reviewed and approved including learning experiences, materials, resources, texts, and assessments. This unit’s components:

- Are aligned to Georgia Standards of Excellence and MYP/DP subject area guide (if applicable)
- Are aligned to the pacing of the approved Subject Group Overview
- Provide resources that are appropriate for students’ grade level, subject/course level, etc.
- Provide learning experiences that prepare students for course assessments

PLCs review each learning experience using three criteria and collaborate to provide explicit and specific information.

The Thing About Jellyfish by Ali Benjamin
Lexile Level: 740

The main character Suzy deals with bullying and teasing from her classmates throughout the novel.
There are instances of name-calling and at one point she is spit on.

Suzy is grieving the loss of her best friend Franny and this is one of the major themes throughout the novel.

Suzy’s older brother is gay and has a boyfriend. Pg. 36–Suzy watches her brother and his boyfriend share a brief kiss in the car before heading out to the movies.

Pg. 59—Suzy’s parents are divorced and share custody. Though the divorce seems amicable, this could be triggering for some students.

Pg. 65–Suzy’s dad drinks a beer at their weekly dinners together.

Pg. 80–Suzy’s lab partner, Justin, has ADHD and takes his medicine when they are in class together. He talks about his brain “going wacko” if he doesn’t consistently take his medicine.

Pg. 156-159–A student picks up a frog and smashes it against a tree, causing it to die.

Pg. 198–Suzy starts her period and references “a spot of blood” in her underwear.

Suzy steals her dad’s credit card information and money from her mom and brother in an attempt to travel to Australia without telling anyone.
