Resources, materials, assessments not linked to SGO or unit planner will be reviewed at the local school level
Individual survival in challenging environments require both physical and emotional resources and affect personal and cultural perspectives.

Inquiry questions

Factual

- What is an inference?
- How do you determine the theme of a text?
- What is the difference between the central idea and theme?

Conceptual

- How do individuals survive challenging environments?
- How do culture, time, and place influence the development of identity?
- How does reading from different texts about the same topic build our understanding?

Debatable

- What are the ways that an author can juxtapose two characters?

Students will analyze the relationships among texts

MYP Criterion B: Organization
Students will use organizational structures that serve the context and intention.

Students will organize opinions and ideas in a coherent and logical manner.

MYP Criterion C: Producing Text
Students will produce texts that demonstrate insight, imagination and sensitivity while exploring and reflecting critically on new perspectives and ideas arising from personal engagement with the creative process.

Students will make stylistic choices in terms of linguistic, literary and visual devices, demonstrating awareness of impact on an audience.

Students will select relevant details and examples to develop ideas.

MYP Criterion D: Using Language
Students will use correct grammar, syntax, and punctuation.

Students will use varied sentence structure and forms of expression.

novel, Salva and Nya. The mid- and end of unit assessments will prepare students for the Final Performance Task by having them look at the author's craft using juxtaposition to illustrate the two personalities and organize their thoughts before beginning work on their poems.

This performance task gives students a chance to demonstrate their understanding of the characters and issues of survival presented in A Long Walk to Water by Linda Sue Park. Students will be crafting and presenting a bio poem incorporating the views and experiences of the two main characters, Nya and Salva, as well as factual information about Southern Sudan and the environmental and political challenges facing the people of Sudan during and after the Second Sudanese Civil War. Students will have read the novel and various informational texts to gather a rich collection of textual details from which they can select to incorporate into their poems.

In preparation for creating their poems, students will also examine models of bio poems. Once the poems are written, they will be shared with an audience of their classmates or others beyond their classroom. Teachers will assess the finished poems using a MCS/MYP Rubric with all MYP Criteria.
