Conceptual Understandings:

• Understand that characters-usually the main character drive the theme in a text.

• Understand that a main character experiences conflict(s) that determine his/her/their growth, and that this growth occurs over the course of the text.

• Understand that other literary elements or devices (title, setting, symbols, statements and observations, conflict, and plot) can shape the theme of a text.

• Understand that the theme is not the same as the topic, which focuses strictly on the content. The theme is also not the same as the plot. Most literary works have one or more themes that are expressed through the plot.

• Understand that specific details may be aspects of tone, diction, characterization, and figurative language the author uses to reveal the central meaning of the text.

Relationship between summative assessment task(s) and statement of inquiry:

Students will demonstrate their understanding of narrative structure and the power of personal style in expressing the connection to identity formation and a journey of transformation and establishing the connection between author, subject, and reader. Each of us embarks on a journey of transformation. Whether confronting legendary monsters or facing the difficulties of everyday life, there are many kinds of journeys that can challenge us and open our eyes to something new. Through a variety of readings, writing, and speaking/listening tasks, students will explore physical and emotional journeys and explore what we can learn from them.

List of common formative and summative assessments.

Formative Assessment(s):

Have students stop reading at the end of line 251. Ask students to imagine they are Odysseus, and then have them write a one page account of how they would outwit the Cyclops so they could escape with their men. For students who know what happens next in the story, have them write a scheme different from the one Odysseus devises against the Cyclops.

Summative Assessment(s):

Summative Major Assessment 1 - Narrative Performance Task: Students will create a narrative expression of a journey of transformation, either personal or fictional. Students will demonstrate understanding of the elements of narrative writing and storytelling through their own self-expression and in response to the prompt (GSE 9W3, 9W4)
